THE CYNTHIANA NEWS.

VOL. XII.

CYNTHIANA, KY., FEBRUARY 21, 1867.

NO. 50.

For the Cynthiana News.

FORGET NOT THE FIELD.
Forget not the field where they perished.
The truest, the last of the brave.
All gone, and the bright hopes we cherished.
Gone with them, and quenched in the grave.

Oh! could we from death but recover, Those hearts as the bound before,
In the face of high heaven to figure over,
That combat for freedom once more.

Could the chain for an instant be riven, Which tyranny flung round us then,
No, tis not in man, not in Heaven, To let tyranny bind it again.

But 'tis past, and though blazoned in story, The name of our victor may be,
Accurate is the march of that glory, Which treads o'er the hearts of the free.

Far dearer the grave or the prison, Illumed by one patriot's name, Than the trophies of all who have risen,
On liberty's ruins to fame.

IN SENATE.
TUESDAY! JAN. 29, 1867.

Mr. Helm, from the Committee on Federal Relations, to whom was referred the resolution offered by Mr.
Chandler in relation to the call of a National Democratic Convention, made the following report, which was ordered to be printed, viz:

"Resolved by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky. That the General Assembly favor the calling of a National Democratic Convention of all the States, to be held in the city of Louisville, at an early day, for the purpose of taking into consideration such measures as will promote the public welfare, maintain inviolable the Constitution of our fathers, the enforcement of constitutional law, and to bring to bear the whole power and influence of National Democracy to the support of the President in his efforts to restore the Union, now discovered by the unconstitutional revolutionary acts of Congress."

The Committee on Federal Relations, to whom was referred the above resolution offered by Mr. Chandler, would respectfully report; That they have had the same under consideration, and are of the opinion that the action therein proposed is not only eminently proper under existing circumstances, but imperatively demanded by the best interests of the people of the whole Union, imperiled, as they are, by the mad policy of a revolutionary party that now control the United States Government.

The Federal Government was established by States, alike equal and independent, for certain specific purposes, with powers specifically enumerated in the Constitution, and such powers as were necessary to carry into effect and to execute the specified powers, each State retaining its original dignity and equality; and reserving to itself all powers not delegated by the Constitution to the General Government, nor prohibited to the several States. In this residuary mass of powers was included the right of each State to prescribe the qualifications of its electors, to establish and regulate its own domestic policy, to secure protection to the lives, liberties, and property of its citizens, and provide for the administration of justice between them according to its own laws, and through the agency of its own tribunals. Besides this reservation of powers to the States respectively, they mutually guaranteed to each other, by constitutional law, in which the pledged faith of each and all the States was pledged in the most solemn manner, by the ratification of the Constitution, that every State should be entitled to representation in the House of Representatives in proportion to its population, and that no State should be deprived of its equal suffrage in the Senate without the consent of such State.

To guard more effectually and carefully the liberties of a free people, all the individual rights which have been esteemed essential to the freedom and security of the citizen, from the days of magno charta to the present time, were carefully and specifically enumerated in the Constitution, and declared to be forever sacred and invio-late.

Organized on these principles, the Federal Government, at the commencement of the terrific and sanguinary conflict through which we have recently passed, by its executive, and with a unanimity rarely, if ever before, presented in its legislative department, solemnly declared to the people of the United States and to the civilized world "that the war was waged in no spirit of oppression, nor for purpose of conquest or subjugation, nor for the purpose of overthrowing or interfering with the rights or established institutions of the States, but to defend and maintain the Constitution, and to preserve the Union with all its dignity and the equality and rights of the several States unimpaired; and that so soon as these objects were accomplished, the war ought to cease."

Was this pledge made in good faith?
It was, the honor of the whole party stands pledged to its redemption.
It was made to deceive, a blush of shame should mantle the cheeks of every man engaged in perpetrating so gross a fraud and falsehood.

Influenced by these oft-repeated assurances of fidelity to constitutional obligation on the part of the executive and legislative departments of the General Government, thousands and tens of thousands of our patriotic citizens sprang to arms, with a promptness unparalleled in the history of nations. They cheerfully met and bore all the dangers and privations of a long and bloody war, and laid down their lives a willing sacrifice upon the altar of their country.

The struggle was one unprecedented in the annals of the human race.
Thousands of gallant and heroic braves on both sides of the conflict met on the sanguinary battle-field, where American gallantry and valor were shown in such glory as the world had never before witnessed.

The Federal armies by their overwhelming numbers and power, were at last triumphant. It was then the soldiers of the competing armies struck hands in friendly greeting, and brave and chivalrous brothers, so recently arrayed on the battle-field, held friendly converse. It had been proclaimed the fight was not to degrade and subjugate our southern brothers, but to vindicate the supremacy of law and to uphold the Constitution of the country, that all might enjoy its protecting shield, its privileges and its blessings.

The Federal soldier pointed with pride to oft-repeated pledges of the Government to give the Southern soldier assurances of magnanimity and amnesty which awaited him. The Southern soldier has grounded his arms, returned to the peaceful walks in society, acknowledging his obedience to law and allegiance to the Government.

Notwithstanding the pledged faith of the Government through its departments, at the beginning and during the contest, which every consideration of honor, truth and justice required an observance of the party now controlling the Government has astounded not only the people of this country, but those of the civilized world, by a series of unparalleled usurpation of power. There has been perpetrated the most shameful disregard of constitutional obligations, the most flagrant violations of individual and State rights, to be found in the history of civilized nations. They have invaded the holy sanctuaries of religion, and have attempted to abridge its freedom by imprisoning ministers of the gospel, and by imposing humiliating oaths as a pre-requisite to the performance of their sacred and holy mission. They have condemned them to cruel and unconditional penalties for disregarding their despotic and tyrannical behests.

They have consigned citizens into dungeons, without making known the charges or proceeding by due process of law. They have suspended and denied the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus, that golden key prepared by our fathers to unlock the barricade to give the citizen the right to be heard in his defense.

They have denied to the citizen the ancient mode and sacred right of trial by a jury of his peers, and tried him before tribunals unknown to the Constitution and laws of his country, and condemned him to ignominious punishment and to death. They have subjected him to unreasonable and arbitrary searches and seizures, in shameless contempt of the Constitution. When the people have assembled together peaceably to consult, to remonstrate, and to protest against these wrongs and kindred grievances, and propose measures for the public welfare, or through the press, that terror to tyrants, or at the ballot-box, their assemblies have been dispersed by the bayonet, the press has been suppressed, and the exercise of the elective franchise made a miserable farce.

Some of the bravest officers who lavished their blood in the cause of the Government and the Constitution who dared to have the boldness and manhood to raise their voices to manifest a just and proud indignation against these lawless acts of injury founded in despotism, had their badges of war ruthlessly torn from them, and they dismissed from service without accusation or trial, or banished, imprisoned or exiled. Against all acts of oppression Kentucky enters her solemn protest. But it is said these wrongs and outrages are accompanied by extenuating circumstances, to be found in the widespread popular excitement which pervaded the popular mind during the existence of a gigantic civil war.

They were certainly less observed and less heeded in the midst of the clash of arms. But the reflecting statesman, the anxious patriot, jealous of the liberties of the country, and desirous to promote the happiness and prosperity of his race, had a right to expect, with a return of peace, honor, justice, reason, humanity and constitutional law, would resume their places; and insure an honest re-lemption of the solemn pledges of the Government. But quite the contrary is the fact. The people have now more serious cause for alarm for their liberties, arising from the fact that still bolder and more defiant strides in the direction of imperial despotism have been taken by the dominant party since the close of the war.

In addition to the stamp act and the civil rights bill, which undertook to prescribe rules of evidence in the State courts, we have the freedman's bureau bill, and bills of kindred character. They have assumed to abrogate State laws made pursuant to State Constitutions; thus impairing the independence of the State judiciary. They pronounce as a rule of evidence that negroes shall give evidence between white men. All this is done under pretense of an existing necessity to protect the negro in his freedom, and that despite Executive vetoes. They have sent into the States a multitude of officers to harass the people and eat out their substance, under the pretense of its necessity to protect the labor and regulate the law of contract for the black man. These are acts distasteful to the people and destructive of the best interest of that race whose interests they profess to care for and protect.

By congressional law and executive pledges of pardon, amnesty and restoration of the Southern States to all their political rights, were solemnly made. The olive branch thus held out their arms and submit to the laws and the Constitution. Yet they deny to those States representation, whilst they impose on them direct taxation in violation of a plain provision of the Constitution. They assume these are not States of the Union, but are territories, conquered and held by the laws and right of war. What is that less than an avowed declaration of a dissolved Union? The Constitution provides that representation and direct taxation shall be apportioned among the several States of the Union according to population. They are held to be States for taxation, but not States entitled to representation.
If they are States for one purpose, they are States for all the purposes of the Constitution. They subject the people of the Southern States to onerous taxation and oppressive protective tariff laws, whilst they keep suspended over their heads the sword of Damocles, in the form of cruel and unnecessary laws for the confiscation of their property, and execute them by force without trial and conviction. They have introduced odious political test oaths, decided now to be unconstitutional. They have appropriated millions of the private property of non-combatant citizens to the public use without compensation; in some instances imposing humilating oaths as a condition precedent to the receiving pay for property acknowledged to have been taken for the public use.

They present and seek to secure the ratification of amendments to the Constitution which strike at the fundamental principles in our structure of government, by duress, force and political torture of the Southern people. They seek to degrade and to ostracise white men, whilst they insist on the enfranchisement and elevation of the negro; thus they seek to substitute vice and ignorance for virtue and intelligence, as an element to control the destinies of this nation.
Could there be presented a proposition more dangerous to civil liberty and the principles on which our Government was founded than that involved in a great historical fact, now presented before us, of a civil war closed between sections, and the conquering section demanding and seeking to coerce vital and radical changes in our form of government, irrespective of the voluntary will of the conquered section? Establish that as a precedent, and you at once inaugurate a government of force, and establish it on the ruins of a government of will. It is the great principle involved which determines the people of Kentucky firmly to reject and to resist these innovations on the principles of their fathers.

A government administered on the eternal principles of truth, honor, justice and mercy, will never fail to command the respect, the love, the veneration and allegiance of the people. A government administered on the principle of fraud, falsehood, tyranny and oppression, will never fail to lose the confidence, respect and veneration of the people.

The good and true men of all parties congratulate the country that amidst the strife of contending parties, that branch of the Government, intended to shield the citizen from oppression—the Supreme Court—has manifested a capacity and a willingness to interpose between this storm of party passion and the citizen by throwing its protecting mantle around him as a shield from oppression. The hopes of the country now rest on that department as the sheet-anchor to steady the vessel of State, and make sure its moorings. That court has stricken down that hydra-headed monster, the trial of the citizen by military commission and established his right to be heard before his peers. Whilst thus flushed with hope at the appearance of a ray of light bursting through the lowering clouds of war and domestic strife, a gloom of foreboding obtrudes upon the minds of the people by the knowledge of the fact, that four of the judges of that august tribunal falter in meeting the grave questions which are being presented. The intensity of that gloom is increased by a knowledge of the fact that there are intimations that it is the purpose of the party in power to reorganize that court, and thus subordinate that department to the will of each successful faction and party. Accomplish that and our fair temple of liberty crumbles in ruins, and beneath its fall will be crushed man's last hope for freedom.

But there exist other causes for alarm. It is the settled policy of the party in power that the people of the Southern States shall not be represented in Congress until after the next Presidential election, if then, and shall be excluded from participation in the election of President.
The impeachment of the President, to be tried by the Senate in the absence of representation of the Southern States, has assumed a shape to authorize a belief that it is determined on as a part of their policy.
A demonstration has been made which would lead to the conclusion that a perpetual Congress is part of the political programme of the party in power. It is, too, boldly insisted by some of the most distinguished leaders of the party, that a ratification of the proposed amendment to the Constitution by three-fourths of the States now represented in Congress will make it part of the Constitution.

If this policy, or any two or three of its main features, shall be carried into practical execution, it will be difficult to exclude the belief that it will result in a sanguinary conflict of arms, and establish dissolution as a fixed fact. Will it be less than a proclamation by the representatives of a majority of States and peoples that the Union is dissolved? The South insisted on a dissolved Union on the establishment of the Confederate government. If the North now, by an overwhelming vote, shall by its acts recognize the existence of eleven of the States, once of the Union, you have the concurrent acts of nearly every State in the Union (Kentucky, Maryland and Delaware forming the exception) uniting in the ac-knowledgegment of a dissolved Union.
The compact of Union is the Constitution. That has been ignored and disregarded in all its essential covenants of mutuality. It cannot be denied, that, if all the States in the Union were represented in a National Convention, they might dissolve the compact and remand the conferred powers to the States respectively.
Why should this be so? It is because they would represent the sovereignty of the separate States in its original and unlimited capacity. The sovereignty of the States thus united could propose for another form of government; but as the States would then assume their originally separate and independent sovereignties, it would require the concurrent action of the several States to establish another Union. The present Constitution was established on that principle.
Admit, for argument sake, it requires the will of the people of the several States to dissolve the compact of Union; that will may be made known in the regular form of a convention.

The will of the people of the several States is reflected and represented in a more qualified and restricted sense through their Representatives in Congress. Suppose that it will is manifested by denying to individuals and the peoples of States, parties to the compact, rights and privileges plainly and unmistakably guaranteed by the compact; what would be the legal and political effect may or may not be a judicial question. A compact between sovereignties is an entirety, and must be observed by all to be binding on all.

We have established a common arbitrator—the Supreme Court; and as to all questions coming within the jurisdiction, all good citizens ought to submit to its decision. But there are political rights secured to the States, where no common arbitrator has been agreed. It may be insisted, if these rights are ignored, denied, and trampled on by a dominant party in other States, such acts of the dominant party whose redress is asked in the proper mode, and refused until patience and forbearance under oppression and wrong ceases to be a virtue, absolves the oppressed party or parties from any further obligation to observe the terms of the compact. The most charitable construction which can be placed on the conduct of the dominant party is, that they are acting on the assumption of a dissolved Union without the obligations of an oath, to observe the Constitution; and that Congress is the supreme law-giver, and the States are held together by force. The greatest leader of that party—Stevens, of Pennsylvania—has openly avowed the Union was dissolved, and his action made comfortable to that state of things. If this revolutionary idea is not arrested, who can foresee the consequences that may follow in its train? The American people are forbearing and hopeful; but conclusions follow political events as certain as water seeks its level. The most sensitive which are interwoven in the business transactions of citizens of the United States at this time is the currency and national securities. Their destruction may follow the solution of this political problem. It so, those who have sown the seed will reap the harvest.

In this chaotic state of political affairs Kentucky insists on a perfect union of all the States, with all their rights and privileges secured by the Constitution to each State, and is determined now, as heretofore, to stand firm as a rock in the ocean, bearing aloft the Constitution as our fathers made it; and if the temple of civil liberty erected by their noble hands, and conceived by their colossal minds must fall, she will be burned beneath its ruins. From the warnings we have, it is our duty to watch with a jealous and vigilant eye the movements of that party. It has been truthfully said, "the price of liberty is eternal vigilance."

It is demonstrable to the most causal observer of passing political events, that unless the encroachments of the party in power upon the reserved powers of the State can be arrested, it must eventually result in the destruction of the powers and rights of the several States secured by the Constitution, and unite in the Federal Government all power. In that event, there will be created a despotism on the ruins of a mighty republic, in comparison to which that of Austria and Russia may be esteemed a blessing.

The evils existing and anticipated being thus presented, the question arises, what is the remedy, and how shall we escape the evils foreboded?
That question baffles the wisest statesmen of this age.

Your Committee would recommend a National Democratic Convention as the best remedy to unite all the elements of opposition into one party, and make a last and final appeal to the ballot box. If the lovers of liberty can forget and sink into oblivion the past, mere personal considerations in the public good, ignore past parties, party names and party issues, and by the adoption of principles on which all the opposing elements may unite in one grand and active political party, having a common purpose, this swelling tide of despotism may be rolled back, and its projectors scattered to the winds.

To effect that object, concert and co-operation are indispensable; that can only be effected by a grand council as representative men in National Convention assembled.

Wherefore, the committee recommended the adoption of the resolution submitted for their consideration.

CYNTHIANA, KY.

THURSDAY, : : : : Feb. 21, 1867

A. J. MOREY, EDITOR.

The democracy of Harrison met in convention on County Court Day. It was a large and harmonious body of the bold yeomanry, and they came together as they were wont to do before the abolitionists had usurped the government, destroyed the constitution, and set the laws of God at defiance. A more honest law-abiding, christian-looking body of men never came together in the glorious and chivalric old county of Harrison. Among many other matters of importance that was transacted, we will mention the fact that an enthusiastic endorsement was given to Gen. Lucius Desha, for Congress. The Harrison delegation go to Carrollton, on the 28th inst., instructed for that gentleman for Congress. We hope to hear of his nomination.

The convention then recommended I. T. Martin, for the Senate, and afterward appointed the second Monday in March as a suitable time for holding a Senatorial convention, in Cynthiana. The Senatorial District consists of Harrison, Scott, and Robertson, and the democracy of either of these counties, we hope will attend to the selection of delegates for the second Monday gathering. The people of Harrison have had but little to say about their representative in the Senate for the last eight years. It seems that the man who represents, or mis-represents, as the case may be, this people in the State Senate, received his nomination mostly from the people of Bracken county, and his election too, for if we have been correctly informed, the people of Harrison were not permitted to vote, for fear they might vote wrong. The niggers were here with powder and ball, protecting the best government "vat never vash." It is now time that we as a county should be heard, and have a Senator from our own firesides and take another and stronger bond in the government of our fathers.—We should all be jealous of our rights and careful to defend them whenever they are assailed. We notice with regret that some men, (we doubt their manhood,) fear to express their sentiments with reference to constitutional measures. Such men are unworthy the confidence of their fellows, and deserve nothing but execrations.

The following extract is published for the benefit of all backboneless, and weak-kneed people!

"We might perhaps with truth affirm, that all nations do, at all times, enjoy exactly as much liberty as they deserve, and no more. But it is evident this observation applies only to those nations that are strong enough to maintain their independence; because a country may be overwhelmed by a powerful neighbor, as Greece by Turkey, Italy by France; or a state may be made the victim of a combination of other states, as Poland, or Saxony, or Genoa; and it is not meant to affirm that all of these enjoy as much liberty as they deserve; for nations, as well as individuals, are not exempted from some evils, for the causes of which they cannot justly accuse themselves. But if we return to our first position, we might perhaps with truth affirm, that France, in the commencement of her revolution, was too mad, that during the reign of terror she was too cowardly, and under the despotism of Napoleon, too ambitious, to be worthy of so great a blessing as liberty. She is now gradually becoming more rational, and in the same proportion more free. Of some of the other nations of Europe we might observe, that Portugal and Spain are to ignorant and bigoted for freedom, 'populus vult decipi' (the people are willing to be deceived,) that Russia is too barbarous; and Turkey, in all points, too debased, and too brutalized, to deserve to be free; for as the physically blind can have no light, so the intellectually blind can have no liberty; Germany, inasmuch as she seems to merit freedom the most, will probably first attain it; but not by assassination; for power uses the dagger, when despair uses the sword. In England we enjoy quite as much liberty as we are worthy or capable of, if we consider the strong and deep ramifications of that corruption that pervades us. It is a corruption not restricted to the representative, but commencing with the constituent; and if the people are sold by others, it is because they have first sold themselves. If mercy is doubly blessed, corruption is doubly cursed; cursed be it then, both "in him that gives, and in him that takes," for no man falls without a stumbling-block nor yields without a tempter. In confirmation of what has been advanced above, we might also add, that all national benefits, of which liberty is the greatest, form as complete and visible a part of God's moral administration already begun, as those blessings that are particular and individual; we might even say that the former are more promptly and punctually bestowed than the latter; because nations, in their national capacity, can exist only on earth; and therefore, it is on earth alone, that as nations, they can be punished or rewarded; but individuals will exist in another state, and in that they will meet a full and final retribution. It is a moral obligation, therefore, on nations, to defend their freedom, and by defending, to deserve it. Noble minds, when struggling for their liberties, often save themselves by their firmness, and always inspire others by their example. Therefore, the reign of terror to which France submitted, has been justly termed "the reign of cowardice." One knows not which most to execrate; the nation that could submit to suffer such atrocities, or that low and bloodythirsty demagogue that could inflict them. France in succumbing to such a wretch as Robespierre, exhibited not her patience, but her pusillanimity. I have read of a king of Spain, who having inadvertently expressed some compassion for one of the victims at an auto de fe, was condemned to lose one quart of his blood, which the inquisitor-general insisted should be publicly burnt by the hands of the common hangman, in the great square of Madrid. Here again, we know not which most to despise, the monarch that could submit to such a sentence, or the proud priest that could pronounce it; and the most galling of all fetters, those riveted by superstition, well befitted that people, that could tamely behold such an insult offered to their king. This then seems to be the upshot of what has been advanced, that liberty is the highest blessing that a nation can enjoy; that it must be first deserved before it can be enjoyed, and that it is the truest interest of the prince, no less than of the people, to employ all just and honest means, that it may be both deserved and enjoyed. But as civil liberty is the greatest blessing, so civil discord is the greatest curse, that can befall a nation; and a people should be as cautious of straining their privilege, as a prince his prerogative; for the true friend of both, knows that either, if they submit to encroachments to-day, are only preparing for themselves greater evils for tomorrow—humiliation or resistance. But as corruption cannot thrive where none will submit to be corrupted, so also oppression cannot prosper, where none will submit to be enslaved. Rome had ceased to be tenanted by Romans, or Nero would not have dared to amuse himself with his fiddle, nor Caligula with his horse."

The following letter has been received by one of the constituents of the Hon. A. H. Ward, member of Congress from the Sixth District:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 6, 1867.

DEAR SIR: The Legislature, it seems, has fixed the 4th of May next as the time for holding the Congressional election in Kentucky, and the Louisville Courier states that a convention will be held in Carrollton, on the 28th of this month, to select a candidate to represent the Sixth District in the next Congress; Having received numerous letters from partial friends urging me to submit my name to the Convention as a candidate for the nomination and re-election, it is due to them, and my constituents generally, to say that I most respectfully decline to urge any claims that I may be supposed to have for a re-election, and, in doing so, I must be permitted to express my sincere gratitude to the noble and patriotic constituency whose confidence and partiality conferred upon me the honorable position I now hold. I hope I may be pardoned for stating briefly some of the reasons which have induced me to pursue this course. Prominent among them is my firm belief that in the present unfortunate condition of parties and public sentiment, (as I have learned it through the public prints, and from the few persons I have met from Kentucky,) I can be of more service at home than in Congress.—We must be in perfect harmony and affiliation with the great National Democratic party; it is the only party that has been able to maintain its political organization amid the storm of Radical fanaticism which has overwhelmed all other parties in its mad tumult. That party needs recruits in the States north of the Ohio river. We must lengthen the arm of that wing of the party in order to obtain saving power. It therefore behooves us to shape our course in Kentucky, (as well as other Southern States) so as to give the greatest possible amount of encouragement and strength to our Northern friends. Perfect unity among ourselves is indispensable to accomplish these objects. We should present to the Northern Democracy an unbroken front, with no stragglers in the rear; let them see that the people of our noble old Commonwealth, at least, are perfectly "reconstructed" on a Union basis, and are ready to battle in the cause of civil liberty, and to march to the ballot-box in solid phalanx in a final effort to rescue the Constitution of our fathers from the hands of the spoilers, and restore the blessings of liberty, peace and prosperity to the whole nation. I shall cheerfully support the nominee of our Congressional Convention, and also the nominee of the 22d of February Convention. I only ask and hope that our friends will exercise a wise discretion in the selection; and if any discord shall unfortunately divide the opponents of Radicalism in Kentucky, I will freely devote all of the humble ability and influence I may possess in the attempt to cure it.

Yours respectfully,
A. H. WARD.

According to the New Apportionment bill, Harrison, Scott and Bourbon counties will compose the 22nd Senatorial District.

OIL IN NICHOLAS COUNTY.—We learn from the Carlisle Mercury that oil has been discovered on the farm of Mr. Jerry Prather, four miles from Lower Blue Licks. The spring will yield a barrel per day. The farm has been leased by men who wish to organize a company for further development.

The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette telegraphs on Sunday night as follows:

THE PRESIDENT FIRM.

The President, in consultation with high officials Friday, stated positively that he utterly repudiated the statements that he had offered terms of compromise, but that, on the contrary, he held firmly to his policy. Justice to a part of the Republicans drawn into the late meetings, demands the explanation that they were distinctly and repeatedly assured that the President authorized the persons, who assumed to act on his part, to say that he, Johnson, was willing to agree on the basis of the constitutional amendment and impartial suffrage, and some of the Republican who went to the meeting did so in good faith, believing Johnson was coming over to them, notwithstanding the President positively denies it. It is certain that he has been a party to creating a strong impression that he was ready to abandon his opposition to Congress. The opinion is strengthening that the whole thing, on Johnson's side, was a trick to secure delay.

NEW ORLEANS MULE MARKET.—The Picayune of February 5th says that the previous day the trade in mules was quite brisk. The sales reached 150 head, at prices ranging from $160 to $250, which is the outside figure for first class four-year-old Kentucky broke mules.

A: the stock landing, Inskip sold 11 head of fair Illinois mules, from the Dowling House farm, at $172 50. Also two at $200. Evans sold 12 head of fair Kentucky mules at $190, to J. B. Sterling, Point Coupee. Also, 11 head of first-rate at $240.

Hall sold 30 head of No. 1 Kentucky mules at $250, to Truro, St. James parish.

Huston sold 20 head to Leonard, for a planter, at $160. These are Indiana stock, and are classed common to fair. Same sold 10 head, to go to Issaquena county, Miss., at $165. Also, four head at 175 dollars, shipped to Bridge's landing.

Ragan & Glass, on Baronne street sold 14 head at 180 dollars, for the Ouachita river country.

A Trivett's stables, on Baronne st., 20 head, common to fair, sold for from 175 to 180 dollars.

At Pogue's J. Wolford sold 15 head fair Missouri stock for 185 to 190 dollars. The stock left over is light, not more than 150 head good mules, and 200 common to fair on the market.

A Southern paper says that when a Virginia woman was singing rebel songs to General Grant recently, he asked her if she knew he was a Yankee. "No" she replied, "I thought you were a gentleman."

An old minister enforced the necessity of difference of opinion by argument; "Now, if everybody had been of my opinion, they would all have wanted my old woman."

One of the deacons, who sat just behind him, responded; "Yes; and if everybody was of my opinion, nobody would have her."

We learn from the Hickman (Ky.) Courier that Hiram Lodge No. 1, Good Templars, which was organized in that town about three months ago, through the energy of six or seven persons, now numbers about one hundred and fifty members, and its influence is very observable in that community.

A gentleman from Bath county informs us that upon Saturday last, Capt. Ellsworth, well-known as Morgan's Telegraph operator, and called in that command, "Lightning," shot and instantly killed a young man named James Smothers, in the streets of Sharpsburg. The killing seems to have been without provocation. An attempt to arrest Ellsworth was made, but he succeeded in fighting his way out of Sharpsburg, receiving a slight wound himself, and having his horse killed under him. A reward has been offered for his arrest.

Since the above was in type, we learn that Ellsworth was arrested in this county yesterday morning, by Deputy Marshal Croghan, and was brought to this city and lodged in jail.—Observer & Reporter.

Thad. Stevens's infamous bill establishing a military government for the South, and ignoring every particle of State right, passed the Rump Congress on the 13th inst.—yeas 109; nays, 55.

The wife of General Sickles, who became so noted some years ago in connection with the killing of Philip Barton Key, died in N. York Wednesday.

At Danville upon Saturday evening, the 16th, a mob went to the jail and took out a man named Courier, accused of horse stealing, tried him, and found him not guilty; they then pursued his brother, who had been bailed to answer for a similar crime, overtook him at Parksville, and hanged him.—Observer & Reporter.

By permission of the Legislature a bank of deposit is about to be established in the enterprising city of Falmouth.

James Watson, of the "Watson House," Falmouth, Ky., keeps an excellent hotel, and good drinks, so-called.

A bill has passed the Legislature incorporating Berry's Station. We salute the town of Berry with three guns. It is certainly a thriving place and its citizens are intelligent and enterprising.

JUDGE HUDNELL, collector of Internal Revenue, on the 15th inst., seized the stock and fixtures of H. Feltman, a manufacturer and dealer in cigars and tobacco, on Madison street between Sixth and Pike, for alleged violation of the Revenue law.

Prof. Steinaecker, one of the "faithful," is a teacher of music, and has located in Cynthiana. He comes well recommended as a gentleman, and deserves encouragement. He can be found at the Rankin House.

I. T. Martin starts South on Monday next. He has a considerable sum of money to carry with him for the suffering widows and orphans of masons in the South. The lodge in Georgetown contributed $500 last Monday. That is certainly a magnificent donation.

Last Sabbath morning, Rev. L. D. Huston addressed a large congregation at the Methodist Church, in this place, in behalf of the suffering people of the South, and a collection was taken up, and the snug little sum of three hundred and sixteen dollars was raised. Who can estimate the number of hearts this money will make glad?

The religious festival which has been in progress in this city during the past week, at the Methodist Church, under the control of Rev. S. S. Deering and L. D. Huston, was closed last Sunday evening. Five new members were added to the church. Mr. Huston is certainly one of the most eloquent clergymen that has ever visited Cynthiana. His presence here has benefited us much as a community. We understand that he has accepted a church in Baltimore, and will start for that city in March.

A week or two since, Samuel P. Dills was going from this place, on the cars, to his home, at Livingood station, in Pendleton County, to which point he had paid his fare, but by some hook or crook, the fact that a passenger for that station was on board, had been forgotten by the conductor, and he had nearly passed it, when he betought himself and pulled the bell-rope to stop the train. The cars were nearly stopped, and Mr. Dills in attempting to step off was severely injured.

SOUTH LICKING RIVER has been on a "bender" for the past six or seven days, and without any respect whatever for the people who reside in this city, crowded outside of its banks and remained in that condition for 48 hours. The river is not so much to blame as the weather clerk, who, we believe, has lost all control of affairs this year, for the rain continues to come down, without ceasing. In fact, unless a change takes place, we very much fear that we shall have one of Noah's floods on a small scale. The flood has done much damage to the farming community and milling interests. We hope to be able to give a statement of losses next week. The river is falling at this place at the present time.

THERE are in this town an immense number of dogs, more in our opinion than there should be. We see and hear two or three of these canine species about every house, and wherever poverty is most apparent, there you find the greatest number. Every night the town becomes hideous with their howlings, growlings and growlings, and unless something is done to abate their increase, the people will be compelled to leave the town. We'll bet high that there is not a nigger in town, that has't five or more dogs. We have, no doubt, that if a citizen of Constantinople were to visit Cynthiana, and pass the night, in it, that he would dream of home, where the dogs are held sacred. Let the assessor read the law, taxing dogs, assess every man who comes within its purview. People who keep dogs that are valuable, generally see that they are well kenneled, and kept at home. That character of dog is not running through the country, killing peoples sheep. We wouldn't give the sheep that were killed in Harrison County last year, for all the dogs in the Western states.

LAST Tuesday, as we passed down Main street, en route for the depot, we counted nearly one hundred able-bodied black boys and girls, idling away their time. Most of them were in groups of from ten to twenty playing marbles; what in the name of Heaven do these people mean. Do they hope to live and exist on marbles, and pick up as much as will satisfy their hunger; or are they waiting for something to turn up? Surely they astonish everybody. White people are compelled to work for a living, and the black man must do the same or he will starve. On that same day we witnessed two attempts on the part of farmers to hire farm hands, but they failed. The reply received, was that they would leave town—that they would not work in the country. Several farmers have made efforts to secure boys for work, but they have laid down the law, and they won't work.

forget, perhaps, that a law exists to the effect that a white or black man may be sold, by authority of the State for vagrancy; and masters have taught these people habits of idleness, it is to be hoped that they will not give themselves up to idleness entirely. The colored preachers and teachers in this region should impress upon their people, the certainty of their coming to want and hunger unless they are at work and that continually. Their assistance is needed to till the soil, and none are entitled to bread who earn none. The black women are becoming worthless, and many of them instead of finding good homes and making for themselves a good livelihood, are throwing themselves away—and are giving up to all kinds of wantonness, licentiousness and folly. This mode of living will soon carry the best one of them to the "bone yard." We venture the assertion that in three years a black man will be as hard to find in this country as an Indian. Such is the beneficent effect of abolitionism, radicalism and infidelity.

Two boozey bums, country larks, as clever as they are ugly, arrived in town last week, and remained here over night, because they could not get home, on account of the high water. They had heretofore borne a reputation for sobriety, but as they were on heavy expenses without any good reason, for such wantonness with their means, concluded they would make a tit-bit of mischief for town-talk, which to be done correctly, had to be mixed with whiskey.

"Tis said that an idle brain is the devil's workshop, and the two worthies putting themselves under his satanic majesty's control, commenced business with taking a drink of kill-me-quick. They borrowed a pistol from their friend, whom they intended to "put through the gauntlet" as soon as night should cast his dark mantle over the earth, and having taking numerous and sundry drinks, rallied their crowd and started for the "field of action." They lock arms to steady themselves. One was a reb, and the other a fed. The reb was induced to sing as they marched along a verse of his favorite mountain song, to-wit:

"Farwell my old Kentucky, I can no longer stay, Hard times and the Yankees have driven me away, Hard times and the Yankees they would not let me stay, I am a rebel soldier my home is far away."
And the party all joined in the chorus as they staggered from the Rankin House to Main street, where a halt was called, and a proposition made to steam up again, when they arrived at Robertson's Hotel, and they all started for that place singing—Tramp, tramp, tramp, the boys are marching.
Cheer up comrades they will come, Then at the Cynthiana House, we will "smile" the air again.

Of the free and in our old beloved home. At the end of the verse they ran against the sign-post, and all fell head long into the street. This catastrophe can be explained only by the fact that the party had been singing, "we'll all drink stout blind drunk," but we are not permitted to say that they were in that condition. However, the uproar was cut short by one of the party jumping up and shouting:

Silence, old chums, now all sit down, And I'll introduce you to the marshal of the town.
The marshal chimed in, and thank'd the fates,
That he could put bad boys behind the grates.
And with what assistance he could rally, procured lodging places for the whole party that night. Understand us now, dear reader, we don't say that these fellows went against their own will, with the marshal, or was even put in the lock-up, but we are certain of one thing, that the next morning one of them said to us, that the old inscription on the Edinburgh (Scotland) jail, was running through his head the whole night:

"A prison is a house of care, A place where none can thrive,
A touchstone true to try a friend,
A grave for one alive;
Sometimes a place of flight, Sometimes a place of wrong, Sometimes a place of rogues and thieves And honest men among."

We hope our young friends will keep the devil out of their brains, hereafter, when they come to town.

MARRIED.

DILTZ FLOW ATTACHMENT.
To the Farmers of Mason and Fleming Counties:

THE undersigned have witnessed the practical working of Mr. O. P. Diltz' plow attachment, and take great pleasure in testifying to its perfect utility. It does better plowing than can be done in the old fashion way, saves expense, and a boy ten years old can do the work of a man. The exhibition took place on my farm, on the 16th and 17th inst., and gave perfect satisfaction to all who witnessed it. We believe it will pay any man who has 50 acres of land to own one of them. The persons present were Dr. A. K. Marshall, G. L. Forman, H. Snoot, C. S. Snoot and about twenty other practical farmers, several of whom bought the attachment.

THIS preparation is the discovery of the Rev. J. W. Poland, formerly the pastor of the Baptist Church in Goffstown, N. H., and a man deeply beloved by that denomination throughout New England. He was obliged to leave the pulpit and study medicine to save his own life, and his Magic Powders are one of the most wonderful discoveries of modern times. Excellent for Headache, Constipation, Pimples, Blisters, A Swallow Skin, Drowsiness, Dizziness, Heartburn, Palpitation, and a most wonderful Cure and preventive of Fever and Ague!
